Dear Emily,

Hope you are doing well! I've had a chance to read BLUE MOON RISING. The story is so vividly written and it really rises above the typical paranormal novels. However, as much as I wanted to absolutely love it, I found that the narrative dragged in places and I worry that readers need more from the plot to invest in the story sooner so they'll hang on until the end.

Thanks so much for giving me the chance to read Lynne's manuscript. I hope we can find a good match for us soon!

All my best,

Alexandra

Dear Alexandra:

I hope this email finds you well and enjoying fall! I am excited to tell you about a new book I am currently sending out on submission: BLUE MOON RISING by Lynne Freeman.

I think we can all agree that there is a glut of paranormal teen novels in the market right now - but BLUE MOON RISING is different. It's not a vampire story, though there are vampire characters, nor is it a werewolf story, though the protagonist falls hard for one. Influenced by novels that have come before, BLUE MOON RISING takes the genre to the next level. Set in Alaska, this is the story of a girl who is slowly finding out that she is the child of an ancient prophecy, one so powerful that both evil and good forces are looking to annihilate her. And the guys she's falling in love with, one of the good guys, he'll destroy her too if he figures out what she has the potential to be.

Lynne Freeman is a native Alaskan and an attorney. She currently divides her time between Anchorage and Santa Barbara but her laptop comes with her everywhere! This is her first novel.

The novel has already garnered some early film interest and early readers concur that BLUE MOON RISING is definitely different and definitely sizzling hot, despite the chilly setting. Please let me know if you'd like to take a look!

All best,
Emily
